Making an accessible worship space for all, by Vicar Ted

Accessibility has been a conversation coming up a lot recently.

I wanted to take a moment to share options we have for accessibility and how we might improve options for all congregants.

For outdoor worship, we have extra bag chairs to use for anyone that does not have one or forgets to bring their own. Or, if bringing one is difficult due to mobility issues.

We have started placing two regular chairs with arms on the walkway leading to the outdoor worship space for those who cannot access the space well or have difficulty getting in and out of the bag chairs. We are currently looking at purchasing some sturdy chairs with arms.

We have a wheelchair available for use. It is in the Narthex and can be used to transport someone from a vehicle to the worship space.

There are people here that are willing to assist anyone that needs help at any time. Just let us know in advance of any special needs you may have, and we will try our best to accommodate them.

Suggestions are always welcome to make our worship spaces more accessible to anyone interested in coming. We are committed to ensuring people feel welcome at the church!

From the Pastor's Desk

Dear Beloved of God,

What's in a name? Probably a question most of us rarely entertain or even consider. What's in a name?
From Shakespeare we learn:

We use the phrase 'A rose by any other name would smell as sweet' today to indicate that things are what they are, no matter what name you give them.

This line – 'A rose by any other name would smell as sweet' – is a quotation from William Shakespeare's play Romeo and Juliet, spoken by Juliet Capulet (Act 2, Scene 2) to herself whilst on her balcony, but overheard by Romeo Montague.

'Tis but thy name that is my enemy;
Thou art thyself, though not a Montague.
What's Montague? It is nor hand, nor foot,
Nor arm, nor face, nor any other part
Belonging to a man. O, be some other name!
What's in a name? That which we call a rose
By any other name would smell as sweet;
So Romeo would, were he not Romeo call'd,
Retain that dear perfection which he owes
Without that title. Romeo, doff thy name,
And for that name which is no part of thee
Take all myself.

Juliet is saying that even if the rose has a different name it would still have its wonderful scent. She is a highly intelligent girl and this monologue is one of the most profound observations in all of Shakespeare.

We learn in Genesis 2:19 the importance of names and naming when God instructs Adam to name all the animals, thereby joining God in the task of creation. Naming puts the human and the animals in a unique relationship. To know another's name is to have some power over them. For example, have you ever been out in public somewhere and hear your name being called? If you have, you know you stop and look around to see who wants you. Sometimes the person being called is not you, but you still stopped and looked around. Someone who knows your name has some power over you!

When our daughter and son-in-law were expecting Frederick, they asked Ann and I what we wanted to be called as grandparents. Ann chose "Nana," while I selected "Pappy." Now as our grandson approaches his second birthday, we find he can say, "Nana" rather clearly, but "Pappy" is a bit harder. His best efforts have come out "Popeye"! And in time, he abbreviated it to simply, "Pie" (or "Peye," if you will!)

I kind of like it! It's a unique name that reminds me of a unique relationship I have with my grandson, after all, it's his designation for me and no one else in his world shares that name, that identity! What a wonderful blessing!

Our names are special and possess incredible meaning. No one likes to be called by the wrong name, that is, a name other than the one they were born with, unless it's a beloved nickname given by a friend or loved one!

As my mother grew older, she has trouble remembering names, so when she would meet someone new and be introduced, she would often respond by saying something like, "No, that's not your name, to me your name is ____." My mother never remembered the given name, but she never forgot the name she had given them!

What's in a name? A great deal if we think about it! Our names reflect who we see ourselves to be as well as how others see us. Names are important even to God, that's why we are not to misuse his name. Just like us, knowing God's name gives us some power over him so when we call upon his name, we have his undivided attention. Thanks be to God for our names!

Love, you and peace,

Peye (Pie)

Amber & Tony Cordell were added to the prayer list last week. The Cordell family are dear friends of the Burn family. They are currently experiencing one of the worst nightmares imaginable. Tony was tragically injured in an accident and will be out of work for the foreseeable future. Within the next few weeks, Amber will be on leave from her job, as an ultrasound technician, for the birth of their second child.

They are not people who would ask for anything. We are asking for prayers to help lift them up during this difficult time, as they have a long road ahead with many new challenges to tackle. The emotional and financial toll of Tony's accident will leave them strained in many ways. There is a GoFundMe page established to assist them for those who would like to help.
